Bachelor of Business Administration

Workforce Management

People are the most important part of any business and Human Resource Management (HRM) is about maximising employee and organisational performance and wellbeing.

In this specialisation, you will study recruitment and selection, performance and conflict management, training and development, remuneration, strategic human resource management, and HRM metrics and analytics.

Working with our expert faculty, you will develop the skills and knowledge needed to succeed as an HR manager in organisations of any size. You will also learn to demonstrate leadership, ethical practice, and professional integrity when working within a team and independently.

In today's corporate environment there is a strong demand for professionals who are highly skilled in communication, management, and human relations. With Curtin's industry embedded curriculum, you will have the opportunity to select and apply theories, concepts, and techniques to describe, understand, analyse, and evaluate management issues and opportunities in real life case studies

Dual Specialisation Options

You also have the opportunity to do a dual specialisation in this program. You can combine the Human Resource Management specialisation with any one of the other BBA specialisations like Digital Marketing, Tourism and Hospitality, or Small Business Start Ups.

Graduating with two specialisations can enhance your skills, employability, and your success by widening your career prospects.
